1. Prior to July 1950 the tank brigade belonging to the Sixth Army was lodged in barracks about 3.5 kilometers from Sarajevo, in the direction of Butmir. The barracks were built in Lukovica. They are made of lumber, their roofs are covered with impregnated paper, and they serve as lodgings for soldiers as well as garages for tanks and cars. All the barracks are enclosed with a wooden fence 2.5 meters high.
2. By the middle of July 1950 the brigade had moved to the Hungarian frontier. Only 20 smaller tanks still remained in the barracks.
3. Attached is a sketch of the barracks.
